January 2015

*I am only one; but still I am one. I cannot do everything; but still
I can do something;
and because I cannot do everything, I will not refuse to do the something that I can do.*

Happy New Year! 2015 has arrived.

Work at the Sandy Recovery Ministry is continuing at a winter pace; and volunteers will be few and far between for the next month or two. Winter weather - while currently somewhat mild - will prevent or hinder the accomplishment of the same amount of work that could be done during the spring through autumn seasons.

Yet, we will continue to schedule Done In A Day sessions at such times as volunteers come forward. If you have a desire to put in a workday at any point, email or call us. Please provide us with two or three days that you would be available to work.

If you have your own team of at least four to five people willing to volunteer together, we will check our list of homeowners to find a suitable work location.

And, of course, we can generally find work for larger teams as well.

"Individuals" are always welcome - we will contact other volunteers to see if a team can be assembled for you to work with on your available days. Scheduled DIAD days are already set for February 7th and March 7th.
